PRO BONO ACCESS TO PACER

Michael Blomquist, (“plaintiff”) has exhibited financial constraints which have restrained his access to America’s judicial system. Plaintiff, requests pro bono access to PACER in order to help prosecute his claims in the most timely and efficient manner. Unlike plaintiff’s request to proceed IFP, the costs associated with plaintiff’s pro bono access are minimal, possibly non-existent to the court, treasury or taxpayer. Benefits of pro bono access include, but are not limited to more efficient use of the court’s time, and plaintiff’s improved ability to prosecute claims. (relevant citations).

Plaintiff is willing to repay all PACER fees provided he is awarded a judgment or reaches a settlement with the defendants. The following is provided by PACER available at, <http://pacer.psc.uscourts.gov/faq.html#GP18>

“The standards established by Congress are: to avoid unreasonable burdens and to promote public access to such information.”

DATED: May 21, 2008

Respectfully submitted,
/s/ Michael Blomquist
